Foreword

We, the Class of 1959, present this yearbook with the hope of capturing and preserving a part of the best times of our lives. We hope it will bring back old and happy memories, "Lest We Forget" them and so lose the last vestige of that which we once loved so dearly. This book, many years from now, should lead us down "Memory Lane" and recapture the golden days of 1958-1959 in Warren High.

The future confronts us. What it holds is unknown, mysterious. All of us must follow our separate roads and face our individual problems. Many times will come, therefore, when we shall seek inspiration from our youth and shall want to refresh our memories. We shall pick up this yearbook and shall anticipate with mixed emotions the once familiar faces and scenes which the cover will expose. We shall hungrily scrutinize the pages, looking, remembering, and longing. Before us will lie an immortal glimpse of our good old school days, those magic hours spent in the venerable old building known as Warren High School. We hope this yearbook will fulfill its purpose and become invaluable.

Joe

Dedication

To Mr. Richard G. Kauffman in recognition of his many contributions to our school, we are proud to dedicate the fifty- second edition of the "Dragon." Mr. Kauffman's sincere interest in his work has reflected on his students and has increased their desire to learn the languages of Germany and Spain. His duties as assistant track coach and as advisor to both Spanish and German Clubs have won the respect and admiration of many students. We shall always remember Mr. Kauffman as a good friend, a wise counselor, and a judicious sportsman.

Classes

School is a process of learning, one thing that all of us remember most vividly. Who could forget the fun and the hard work encountered in the seven periods a day in Warren High?

The Joint Committee of the Warren Area School Board

Seated—Charles R. Beck, Clerk of the Board of Directors; Norman W. Grosch, Vice President; Mrs. Ray Mickelson; Melvin G. Keller, President; Frank J. Colosimo; Richard M. Smith, Secretary; Dr. Carl E. Whipple, Superintendent of Schools.

Standing—R. Pierson Eaton, Solicitor; Harry R. Chinberg; Frederick E. Kieshauer; Miles Tremblay; J. Russell Hanson; Myron E. Jewell, Treasurer; Dr. Arthur J. O'Connor; W. Scott Calderwood; Harris E. Johnson; John M. Miley. Wallace H. Cowden—not present for the picture.

The membership of the Joint Committee of the Warren Area School Board consists of the seven members of the Warren Borough Board, one member of the Clarendon Borough Board, and one member from each of the School Districts of Elk, Glade, Kinzua, Mead, Pleasant, and Watson Townships. Elected by the voters, these public-spirited citizens contribute a tremendous service to their communities. Our schools are fortunate to have as members of the Joint Committee outstanding people who accept the important responsibility given to them. Devoting their time and effort without financial remuneration, the Warren Area School Board deserve our whole-hearted appreciation for a job well done.

Meeting regularly to deliberate the complex problems of modern education, these directors determine the policies of the school, set the annual budget, provide the teaching personnel, arrange for necessary facilities and equipment, and attend to many other duties directed by the State Department of Public Instruction.

This year the Joint Committee of the Warren Area School Board chose the site for the new high school, decided upon the final design for the structure, and determined many other important matters relative to the construction. The Board scheduled the Class of 1961 as the first to graduate from the new building.

Guidance

The guidance counselors, Miss Steele and Mr. Zulak, were always available to help students with personal and academic problems. In the guidance office those people interested in a college, a scholarship, or a vocation could get necessary data from stacks of college bulletins, from catalogs, and from other valuable material. Through the year college and vocational representatives visited the school to give interested students advice and answers to their specific needs. The guidance office handled the various scholastic and ability measurement tests. It was also responsible for keeping accurate records for the future use of colleges and business agencies.

Mr. Zulak guided students in the selection of careers and in problems pertaining to college admission.

Mathematics

Many different branches of mathematics offered themselves to the students. Those enrolled in the business subjects took the courses in general business mathematics or first or second year algebra. Academic students undertook the study of algebra, plane geometry, and solid geometry. Many seniors enrolled in the college preparatory mathematics course, which included basic instruction in calculus and advanced algebra. All worked to develop the mathematical ability required either by the business world or by higher education.

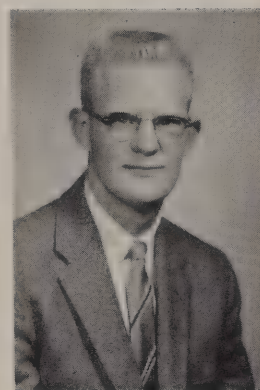

Blackboard practice and explanations simplified algebraic problems.

Science

HEALTH

Health, the study of the human body and the factors which influence it, was a one-semester course included in the schedule of all sophomores. With the help of many detailed and realistic exhibits, the students learned much about disease, diets, and body functions. The presentation of the principles of sanitation, accident prevention, and first aid provided a guide for personal and community safety in everyday life.

ANATOMY

Anatomy, an advanced course for seniors who planned to enter the field of nursing, medicine, or biology, concentrated on an intricate study of the human body, its diseases and their influences. The information touched on psychology, nutrition, and medicine and acquainted students with medical terminology useful in more advanced study.

BIOLOGY

Biology students explored the intriguing world of nature, including the basic concepts of plant and animal life. They learned how life exists in all its different stages and how the bodily processes are carried on by each. Later in the year, attention centered on the higher forms of living organisms, such as the fishes, the reptiles, and the large mammals and the plants. The course provided specimens for actual experimentation, and the many exhibits available gave the students a better understanding of their subject.

Biology students were able to project microscopic objects with the use of a bioscope.

CHEMISTRY

Chemistry students started their primary investigation of that complex branch of science. They studied most of the common elements, learning about their individual properties and uses. Experiments conducted regularly through the course enabled students to use the knowledge they had gained and to obtain actual proofs of the things they held in doubt. While writing detailed laboratory reports, the students learned how to describe correctly and concisely what they had seen and done.

Completion of their course left its pupils with a better comprehension of the composition and behavior of matter and energy.

PHYSICS

Many juniors and seniors this year undertook the study of physics, the science of work, effort, and energy. They experimented with many different devices, learning how to solve and understand the many problems and concepts dealing with electricity, gases, motion, and heat. The students mastered the famous laws of Archimedes and Galileo and the theories set forth by Einstein and Newton. A greater comprehension of the physical forces at work in the universe was the result of this course.

Physics students explored natural laws through experimentation and observation.

ENGLISH

The classes in English covered a wide range of subjects. The sophomores concentrated on grammar and classical literature, such as William Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar." At the same time the juniors explored the frontiers of American poetry and prose, broadening their vocabularies and increasing their knowledge of American life and the way of living. They, too, reviewed basic English grammar and sentence construction.

In the general English course, seniors studied English literature from the time of the Anglo-Saxons to the present day. Seniors enrolled in the college preparatory course studied much the same curriculum, but they stressed theme-writing and composition more heavily.

Every student strove for the mastery of the English language required for communication in today's civilization.

SPANISH

Spanish students gained a basic knowledge of that colorful Romance language, and at the same time they learned much about the customs and habits of the world's Spanish-speaking peoples.

From time to time through the course the students had opportunities to speak their new language. This enabled them to grasp and use the fundamentals they had acquired.

GERMAN

The courses in German this year provided interested students with opportunities to start or to further their study of this popular foreign language. Just before Christmas the students devoted much of their time to learning and singing the popular carols and Christmas songs in German. Many colorful exhibits and posters in the classroom gave them a better understanding of the German people and Germany.

Reading before the tape recorder enabled German students to correct their mistakes.

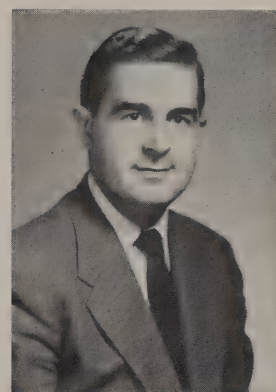

In Latin class these students indicated that "Gallia est omnis divisa in partes tres."

Students taking the course in second year Latin this year obtained not only a reading and a writing knowledge of that ancient tongue, but also a better understanding of their own language, English. This was a result of the great similarity between the two and of the large amount of translation required.

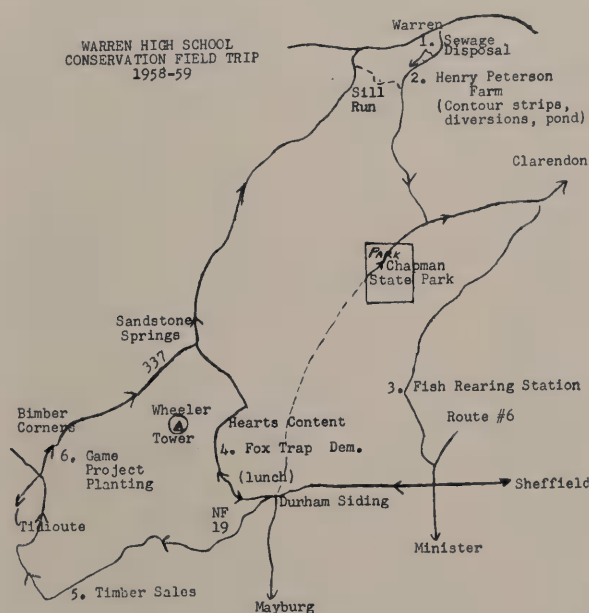

Most of the Latin literature was based on Roman history and legend. This enabled students to learn much about the Romans and their famous civilization. After finishing the course the students had a firm background in Latin, and they also had a knowledge of the people who spoke it many years ago.

The course in conservation this year stressed the importance of preserving America's natural resources. The students learned much about the modern methods of forest fire-fighting, reforestation, and land cultivation. Many exhibits and frequent lectures by prominent local forestry experts gave the students a better understanding of this important subject.

Social Studies

Social studies covered a broad field of learning. World history for sophomores centered on the important history of the world's prominent nations and on the international events of the present day. American history for juniors presented a detailed account of our country's expansion, conflicts, and policies. It included a study of America today, her problems, her achievements, and her future.

Sociology and economics, available to seniors, concentrated on community living, government, and the business economy of the United States. Discussion of budgets, wages, taxes, crime, juvenile delinquency, inadequate education, and other important subjects made students aware of the part they could play in the search for better solutions of social problems.

In preparation for the model United Nations General Assembly meeting in Erie, Gannon College students met with Warren and Youngsville representatives and explained various procedures.

Art

Artistically inclined students had an opportunity to develop their aptitudes in one of the three courses in art. Trying their hand at the many mediums available, such as sculpture and poster design, the students gained valuable experience and an idea of the things in which they were most interested. The course provided a foundation for further study in the field of commercial and cultural art.

Jeanne Powley displayed her creative ability in this clever and colorful mural based on instrumental music.

Patience and exactness were necessary qualities of mechanical drawing students

Mechanical Drawing

Mechanical drawing, which provided basic fundamentals in drafting, proved to be of considerable importance to those students who wished to further their studies in the fields of industry and engineering. Trained in neatness, accuracy, and legibility, these students gained valuable experience and practice in printing, drawing of complex figures, inking, and shading. They became familiar with various instruments and tools of the engineer.

With a new arrangement of reading tables and display cabinets the library presented an attractive appearance to the casual visitor. Upon closer scrutiny an observer became aware of a well-rounded collection of books and reading material. Encyclopedias, reference books, the Oxford Companions to English and American Literature, fine collections of scientific books, biography, travel, fiction, and verse were available for research, pleasure, and required reading.

Subscriptions covered fifty magazines and five newspapers. "The New York Times" and the "Christian Science Monitor" were on the racks. Educational journals supplied teachers with professional reading.

Through the year many attractive and educational displays enlivened the bulletin boards and informed students of special interests, modern events, and achievements.

Bookkeeping

The adding machine was a great boon to bookkeeping students.

BOOKKEEPING

Emphasizing speed and accuracy, bookkeeping students learned the principles of record keeping that would be valuable in most offices. Other phases of the course included the study of income tax reports, pay rolls, and partnerships.

The office practice class enabled future secretaries to become skilled in the operation of office machines.

OFFICE PRACTICE

Office practice gave its students an understanding of the operation of a modern business office. Spending much time in practice and simulated assignments, the students learned to operate modern office machines, and they became more efficient in shorthand, typing, and English grammar. Most of the students in this course planned to enter business offices in the future.

BUSINESS MATHEMATICS

Mathematics, as required in today's commerce, was the subject of this popular course. Students mastered the initial phases of monetary principal and interest, statistics, and inventory. Given a steady flow of problems related to their subject, the students put their knowledge to use and so prepared for their future positions in the vocation of their choice.

SHORTHAND

Two courses in shorthand were available this year. Students enrolled in the primary course learned how to read and write this fascinating alphabet, while those in the advanced course concentrated on the improvement of their speed of shorthand translation and transcription. All strove for mastery of this useful subject for future personal convenience and for positions in business.

General business required a great deal of calculation.

GENERAL BUSINESS

General business introduced the world of commerce to business-inclined students. A brief study of business ethics, basic law, approved procedures for writing business letters and other business forms, salesmanship, and job requirements acquainted the students with the fundamentals of today's business. The course prepared students for advanced business study in the future school years.

TYPING

Many students this year, both in the business and in the academic fields, enrolled either in the primary or one of the two advanced classes in typing. Besides learning to use the typewriter, they studied letter writing and the correct forms required in business usage. Their goal was the mastery of typewriting in all its phases, either for future positions in the business world or for personal accomplishment.

BUSINESS LAW

This course acquainted students with some of the elementary aspects of law as used in the business world. Concentration lay briefly on legal procedures and the responsibilities of small stores, of small business, and of individuals.

SALESMANSHIP

The class in salesmanship gave its students a background in customer relations and in the art of selling. This course included a knowledge of salesmanship as used in retail stores, mail order businesses, and large manufacturing companies. Most of the students taking this course intended to enter this vocation in the future.

Distributive Education

Under a program of distributive education about thirty seniors earned while they learned. This course included instruction and practical application in the retail sale of goods and other services to consumers. Salesmanship and operation of retail outlets formed the core of study. Other phases of the course emphasized correctness in applying for jobs, supervision of other employees, stockkeeping, retail mathematics, merchandising, advertising, and display.

This program called for class participation during the morning, practical work from one o'clock to six o'clock on school days, and a full day's work on Saturday. These people earned an average of eighty cents per hour. Each teen-ager spent a minimum of fifteen hours per week on the job. Employers rated regularly these students on appearance, attendance, ability to follow instructions, enthusiasm, and co-operation.

Two groups of eighteen and nineteen boys engaged in fundamental machine tool operation at South Street School. They used the oxy-acetylene outfit for cutting steel. They made ornamental iron projects including telephone seats, and radio and television stands. Later in the year attention centered on making useful equipment for the science classes.

Homemaking

The homemaking department included those girls who wished to become good home members and efficient homemakers as well as those who hoped to enter the business world as dietitians, nutritionists, designers, and buyers.

The girls learned to plan and serve appetizing and balanced meals. The aroma of food from room 12 showed beyond doubt that eager students were learning the art of the "way to a man's heart."

Art principles, fabric construction, and interior decorations were subjects for consideration.

Sewing their own garments gave girls actual experience.

Driver Education

Modern America has more automobiles than any other nation in the world, and it also has the highest percentage of traffic fatalities. The purpose of the driver education course this year was to show its students the causes and results of today's accidents, and the ways to avoid and eliminate them. Actual driving practice in one of the two driver training cars gave the students opportunities to use and understand the safety rules of the road. Classroom instruction acquainted them with the mechanics of the automobile and gave them a knowledge of the technique of safe driving.

The course was aimed at helping to keep Pennsylvania's name, "The Safe Driver State," a reality.

Students took a look at the engine of the new driver education car.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

At the annual Christmas Carol Festival the A Cappella Choir, accompanied by the orchestra, sang "Song of Christmas", a cantata arranged by Fred Waring.

The program for the annual Winter Concert offered a variety of choral music. The orchestra under the baton of Mr. Summers accompanied the choir in several numbers and provided an interesting feature. An arrangement of the "Nutcracker Suite" was outstanding in the evening's entertainment. Four boys and four girls formed a madrigal chorus and sang two groups unaccompanied. With the assistance of Mr. Andersen as coach, the choir sang and acted in costume a humorous number, "Scrambled Opera".

Judith Hutchens, Sally DeLong, Susan Johnson, David Trauffer, Mark Peterson, David Spencer, and Joseph Krimmel, outstanding choir members chosen for their singing ability, attended the Northwest District Choral Festival at Corry in April to represent the choir.

The Dragon Band, attired in the school colors, blue and white, added zest and enthusiasm to all home football games. Pleasant days found the band on Beaty field diligently practicing precision marches and difficult maneuvers for half time performances.

At the conclusion of the football season the band settled down to concert music and every fifth period enjoyed practice in the auditorium. For the mid-winter concert the band featured selections from "My Fair Lady" arranged by Lerner-Lowe, "Fiesta Calypso" by Meyers, and a comical number called "The Piano Tuner."

Representing Warren in District Band at Conneautville, Pennsylvania, in January were Patricia Armstrong, Paul Mahaffy, John Tickner, and Susan Werner. Patricia Armstrong received the additional honor of being chosen to play in State Band at Blairsville.

As a fund-raising project for the Music Boosters' Club the band presented on April 16 a concert performance by Mansfield State Teachers' College Band.

ORCHESTRA

For the first public appearance of the year the High School Orchestra accompanied the A Cappella Choir in a cantata at the Christmas Carol Festival. In mid-winter the orchestra, joining with the band in their annual concert, featured selections from the Broadway show, "The King and I." For this program Gudrun Ensslin, violinist, Karen Ericsson, cellist, and Sue Werner, pianist, formed a trio and played three classical numbers in an old-fashioned setting.

Forming an ensemble, a group of the orchestral musicians entertained at a Rotary dinner. Later this group accompanied the A Cappella Choir in a mid-winter concert.

As a new project of the year Mr. Summers and Mr. Hartley Johnston, director of instrumental music in Kane High School, planned the first Warren-Kane Exchange Orchestra Concert. Music students from both schools immensely enjoyed participation in this successful program and hoped the exchange concert would become an annual affair.

The graduating class of 1961 hope to make this site their Alma Mater.

Upper Left—Allen Lindgren as Roy, a juvenile officer, questioned Jim Stark, Dan Otterbein, after the rumble on Twelfth Street.

Lower Right—Having once more discussed the reason for moving, Jim nervously prepared to leave for school.

The Senior Class Presented Rebel Without A Cause

The class of 1959 broke tradition by presenting their play, "Rebel Without A Cause," in the Beatty Auditorium. The tragedy, enacted for two evenings, drew responsive audiences, which filled the auditorium to capacity.

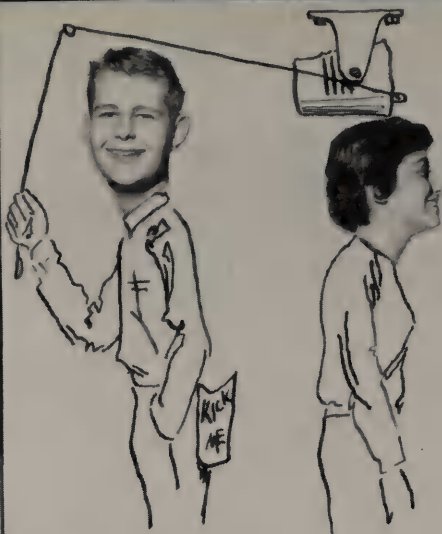

The play was an exciting, tragically human story of a young delinquent and the sources of his problems. Jim Stark and his family moved into a new town. Jim, eager to make friends, found himself in trouble with a rough gang headed by Buzz Gunderson and his girl, Judy Brown. After a chicken-run race which proved fatal to Buzz, Jim won Judy's friendship. They hid from the angered gang in an old deserted mansion, shown to them by Plato. While in the mansion, the three obtained from each other the friendship and understanding which they were unable to receive from their parents.

The seniors who participated in the play were Nancy Armstrong, James Eldridge, Eugene Erickson, Kathleen Kehrli, Dorothy Irwin, Allen Lindgren, Allen Neilson, Nanci Nichols, William Odell, Patricia O'Hara, Daniel Otterbein, Stephen Pearson, Martha Peed, Andrew Peterson, Margery Rader, Russell Rudolph, Sandra Shirk, Olivia Smith, Carol Van Blois, James Watt, and Vincent Williams.

National Honor Society

The Warren High School Chapter of the National Honor Society met each month of the school year to put into practice its motto, "Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service," and so further the academic standards of the school. Agenda included the installation of an Honor Society Chapter in Tidioute, two inductions of eligible seniors, and the induction of the following year's basic membership from the junior class. Selling senior namecards and staging a dinner for several local civic clubs enabled the members to make several substantial scholarships available to deserving seniors. Many students will also remember the Society for the ushering services rendered at many of the social and educational functions of the school.

Front—Fred Martin . . . . Treasurer
Barbara Solomon . . . . Co-President

Back—Diane Anderson . . . . Secretary
Albert Camigliano . . . . Co-President

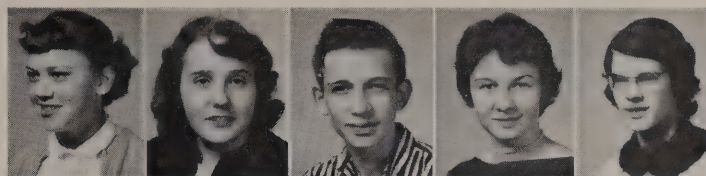

Upper Left—During a pep assembly the junior varsity cheerleaders made their famous pyramid.
 Upper Right—The Distinguished Honor Roll for the third six-weeks period listed these outstanding sophomores.
 Upper Center—Linda Elliott was this year's winner of I Speak for Democracy Essay Contest.
 Lower Center—Laying the foundation for a future top-notch Dragon team, several sophomore wrestlers qualified for the varsity team this year.
 Lower Left—The Junior Varsity Basketball Team owed much of its success to its sophomore members.
 Lower Right—Sophomores found the drama to be an adventure in literature.

Sports

The roar of the crowds, the antics of the cheerleaders, the victories of the Dragon teams gave us memories never to be forgotten.

Great rejoicing prevailed as these Warren football men walked proudly off the field after their brilliant victory over Jamestown.

Football

Comprised of many returning lettermen from the preceding year's winless team, the 1958 varsity football squad established an impressive record of seven victories, two defeats, and one tie. Losing only to Franklin in league competition, the powerful Dragons attained a three-way tie for first place.

The highlight of the entire season was the splendid victory over our traditional rival Jamestown. Playing brilliantly before a capacity crowd, the team took advantage of Jamestown's weak defense and scored twenty-one points. The Dragon's impenetrable defense held the Red Raiders scoreless.

The team and their coaches deserved the admiration of all for their fine record and sportsmanlike conduct.

Quarterback Lou Mascaro gained necessary yardage for the Dragon first-down.

Junior Varsity Football Team

Basketball

Built around a nucleus of five returning lettermen, the team began a very successful season with a ten-game winning streak before their first upset to Jamestown. In one of the most exciting shows of the season the Raiders took the game in a tense overtime period.

The Massa men easily overpowered Oil City by fifteen points but went into a slump with the temporary loss of Mike Cashman, who suffered a fractured ankle in practice. Warren lost the next three games.

Consoled by a 59-50 victory over the previously undefeated Franklin Knights, the Dragons won their next two games away from the home court.

Titusville and Meadville, contenders for top honors in Section Two competition, proved too much for the Blue and White. Warren ended the season, tying for third place in a one-point victory over Franklin.

Front Row—William Brumagim, Richard Wilson, Michael Cashman, William Mervine, Garry Hunter, Donald McKelvy, Mark Peterson.

Wrestling

Defeating all their opponents, the Dragon matmen completed a perfect season under the direction of Mr. Hal Miller. In their respective weight classes Gail Page, Robert Long, and John Colvin were undefeated. Warren, defending champions of Section II, placed second in the sectional meet held at Franklin. Max Claypool, Dean Lester, Gail Page, and James Olson took first-place honors there. Robert Long and John Mead placed second. Victories in an inter-sectional meet enabled Max Claypool and Gail Page to compete in the District X contest.

Under the direction of Mr. Miller, Miss Putnam, Mr. McLaughlin, and Mrs. Bedell interested students worked to increase their skill on the apparatus, to improve tumbling form, and to develop grace in dancing and musical drills. Then on April 9 and 10 these gymnasts presented "Forward with Fitness."

With a sudden burst of energy this Warren miler managed to take the lead.

Anxiety showed on the faces of all relay runners during a decisive moment of the track meet.

Track

The 1959 Warren High School thinclads had fourteen returning lettermen. This was the largest group of returning lettermen in years.

Late in March while the weather was still cold, the cindermen began training in the Beaty gym. As the days became warmer, the squad practiced outside. Each track man trained according to his specialty. Runners took wind sprints and endurance runs, while weight throwers and jumpers ran a few laps and then devoted their time to their respective specialties. To determine the participants, eliminations preceded each meet through the season.

The 1959 squad with Mr. Briggs, Mr. Bell, and Mr. Kauffman deserved much commendation for their hard work and fine record.

Rifle Club

Firing at the Beaty Rifle Range enabled members of the Rifle Club to increase their skill as marksmen. Whenever handling firearms, the club remembered the slogan: "A real rifleman always handles a gun safely."

As they progressed in accuracy, the riflemen learned the different firing positions. During the year they were able to master the prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing positions.

With the coming of spring members planned a number of meets with other rifle teams. On March 21 the team competed against the Penn State Air Corps R. O. T. C. Rifle Team. Participation in these meets gave the Warren riflemen an indication of how their skills compared with the skills of others.

Practicing in all three firing positions increased the riflemen's skills.

One hundred eleven

Chris Creal, the only returning golf letterman, practiced driving and putting.

Golf

As a varsity sport in Warren High School, golf really came into its own in the spring of 1958, when the first team entered competition. Robert Yerg, David Sedwick, Gilbert Hansen, and Christopher Creal were the lettermen who formed the starting team. Mr. Frits coached the boys through their 2-4-1 record in the District II League. The team played all home games at the Conewango Country Club.

Christopher Creal was high scorer in team points and the only returning letterman. This year's linksmen went to the fairways with great expectations of winning the District II Championship.

Harry Tourtellott, John Marymont, Marshall Feldman, Penelope Barley, Mr. Frits, Christopher Creal, Ross Kremer, James Frantz.

Baseball fans witnessed many exciting plays during the baseball season.

Baseball

Spring brought good weather and another baseball season. Although baseball was a comparatively new varsity sport at Warren High, the team had ten returning lettermen.

Under the watchful supervision of their coaches, Mr. Stimmel and Mr. Williams, the team began practice late in March. Training consisted of different calisthenics, fielding and batting drills, and intra-squad scrimmages. Thus the team attained peak condition for the first game on May 4 with Meadville.

The team deserved a great deal of praise and credit for an excellent record and a fine example of sportsmanship.

BASEBALL LETTERMEN—Michael Madigan, Harold Kane, Joseph Massa, Donald McKelvy, Jack Lobdell, Nick Creola, Burdette Chapel, Douglas Lind.

Left—Students admired the awards and trophies which the lettermen had won.

Right—Lettermen acted as ushers and program distributors at games and various other functions.

Lettermen's Association

Lettermen of all interscholastic sports received cards for membership in the Lettermen's Association, which organized late in November.

Members of the association served in several capacities for some of the school functions during the school year. The lettermen ushered at the basketball games and wrestling meets. At a program sponsored by the Warren High School teachers, the lettermen supervised the parking of cars. In the spring the association arranged two round robin dances. Both dances were outstanding social events of the school year.

In a special assembly toward the close of the school year both old and new members received sweaters and letters.

Second Row—Judy Lobdell; Michael Madigan; Louis Mascaro; Harold Kane; Craig Johnson, President; Nick Creola; Jon Larson; James Miller.

Girls' Athletic Association

Earning a required number of points by active participation in a well-rounded sports program qualified a girl for membership in the Girls' Athletic Association. Officers and sports managers planned a busy intramural schedule to include tournaments in volleyball, basketball, softball, and tennis. In addition to active participation in those sports girls had the opportunity to learn the rules of timekeeping, scorekeeping, and refereeing.

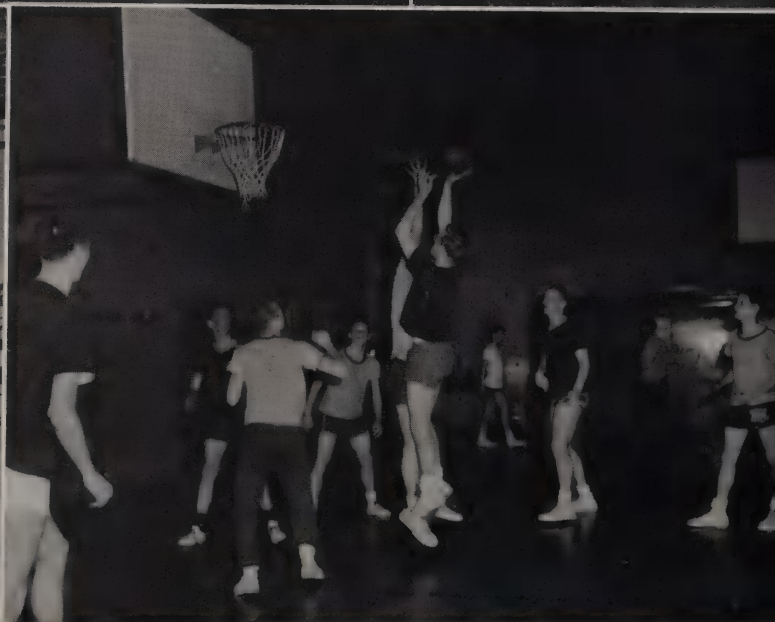

At initiations held in the winter and in the spring, the girls received membership pins and special awards in the form of pins, letters, and sweaters.

Left—Both teams expectantly awaited the outcome of a jump ball in the G. A. A. Invitational Tournament.

Right—Volleyball was a popular after-school pastime.

Upper Left—Front—Head Coaches: Mr. Fritz, Golf; Mr. Stimmel, Baseball; Mr. Briggs, Track; Mr. Veights, Football; Mr. Miller, Wrestling; Mr. Massa, Basketball.

Back—Assistant Coaches: Mr. Williams, Football; Mr. Carr, Football; Mr. Jewell, Football; Mr. Randas, Basketball; Mr. Jewell, Wrestling; Mr. Bell, Track.

Lower Right—Making the baskets in practice was almost as important as making them in games.

 Upper Right—During a half-time show the band congratulated Coach Veights, who had just become a father.
 Middle Right—A Warren player shot over the out-stretched hands of the opponents.
 Lower Left—The crowd waited anxiously for the outcome of a foul shot.
 Lower Middle—Nick Creola led the pre-game warm-up.
 Lower Right—A pile-up was a common sight on the football field.

Activities

Did you belong to F. B. L. A., F. H. A., or the Rifle Club? If you did, the following pages will help you to recall the fun and the projects of these and other extra-curricular activities.

Upper Left—Waltzing to the strains of Pete Pepke's combo, students enjoyed the Student Council Valentine Dance.

Upper Right—The candy sellers received instructions from Mr. Noecker before the noon rush sale.

Center—February 14 was a night of celebration at the Student Council dance in the big gym.

Lower Left—These were the local "gendarmes" who kept traffic moving during the breaks in the school day.

Lower Right—Decorating for a Student Council dance required a sense of balance and much dexterity.

Student Council

President .....	Joseph Massa
Vice President .....	Richard Fowler
Secretary .....	Beverly See
Treasurer .....	Alexis Sommers

The Warren High School Student Council held regular meetings every other week of the school year during class periods in rooms designated by the officers. Existing as a bridge between the student body and the administration, the council enabled the students to express their ideas, through fifty student representatives, for a better school in all its phases. Thus, the council sponsored many projects, including the annual "Get Acquainted Week," Snow Ball, Valentine Dance, a clean-up contest, a skating party, a car-wash, and the election of Student Council and class officers. New plans originated for another exchange-student program, a County Leadership Convention, and a fund for the activity room of the new high school. Taking place for the first time, a school-wide spelling bee promoted school scholarship and competitive spirit. The council attempted to justify its reason for existence: to make school life as pleasant and beneficial as possible for all concerned.

Future Teachers of America

Cadet teaching, the most popular project of the Future Teachers of America, enabled the members to discover by experience the essential requirements of a competent teacher. Substituting in several different elementary grades helped the club members to decide early the grade level they desired to instruct as professional teachers.

Other professional projects enjoyed by the club included in-school radio programs given for the elementary grades, and classroom visitations conducted for observation of teaching techniques. As a fund-raising project the members sold candy and memo calendars.

The forty-five junior and senior members set aside the first Tuesday night in every month for their meetings. Participation in the club supplied the members with a better understanding of the numerous fields in the teaching profession.

Taking charge of a class now and then, F. T. A. members gained valuable experience in the profession of teaching.

Stenographers' Club

The thirty-two girls taking second year shorthand comprised the Stenographers' Club. The business meeting convened once or twice a month during the shorthand class. The girls strove to become familiar with actual business conditions and to become efficient office workers. During the year members also took several field trips to various Warren business establishments.

At Christmas time the members of the club provided and wrapped over sixty presents for the women patients at the Warren State Hospital.

The presentation of the annual style show in the spring furnished the funds to finance the club through the year and to provide an award for an outstanding stenographer.

With eighty-eight members the Future Business Leaders of America held regular meetings once a month. Enacting their motto of "Service, Education, and Progress," the club sponsored a Pre-Regional Convention early in December and invited all chapters of this organization in nearby schools. The Warren Chapter defeated all visiting groups in the business-subject and grammatical contests and thus established Warren High as the local champion in this field of endeavor.

School banking, which the F. B. L. A. conducted every Tuesday morning, helped all participating students to save for a "rainy day." The club assumed the responsibility of the ball-point pen machine in the front hall. At the football games the F. B. L. A. co-sponsored the hot cocoa concession and with this program won the appreciation of a great many students.

A final project was the publication and the distribution of a school directory for the Warren Area Schools.

Neil Jensen placed the Sears-Roebuck Foundation Award in the F. B. L. A. show case.

Future Homemakers of America

The Warren High Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America received the County Red Rose Chapter Award for outstanding program organization during the past year.

As one of this year's service projects the club packed boxes of used clothing for Crossnore, a school for the underprivileged in North Carolina. The members also purchased new draperies for one of the Girls' Wards at the State Hospital and adopted a patient to whom they sent letters, cards, and magazines.

The proceeds from a successful Christmas Bazaar provided the necessary money for financing the service projects and sending delegates to the State Conventions at Harrisburg and The Pennsylvania State University.

Gail Wyman, president of the Warren Chapter, also served as president of the Pennsylvania State Chapter. She capably led the twelve thousand members in upholding the club's purpose to help prepare members for better home, family, and community life.

Keeping the F. H. A. scrapbook up to date required constant attention.

Replacing Mrs. Whitehill during the second semester, Mrs. McComas taught the girls the art of cooking.

"Horace the Scholar", introduced by the Pep Club, became a familiar school figure.

Pep Club

A group of students interested in promoting increased school spirit at major athletic events organized the Pep Club in the spring of 1958. Sponsored by the Student Council, it became an independent organization last fall.

The members, working hard and enthusiastically, boasted long lists of accomplishments for the year. With the help of the cheerleaders and the band they staged a Pep Rally before the Jamestown game. The burning of a "Red Raider" effigy and the crowning of Pep Club King Bill Berdine and Queen Elsa Johnson highlighted the event. At several football and basketball games the club entertained spectators with a card section. The members sponsored buses to all out-of-town contests. Another project was the sale of lovable stuffed animals and dolls bearing the high school insignia.

Navy blue beanies, available only to members of the club, and white blouses became the trademark of the club.

Members of the Pep Club helped cheer the teams to victory.

 Fourth Row—Mr. Peck, Christopher Creal, Douglas Arno'd, Steve Rock, Robert August, Lawrence Keefe.

In an effort to create, maintain, and extend through the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character, the Hi-Y invited speakers each week to discuss such important topics as religion, mental health, and boy-girl relations.

Parties and dances, a hayride, and a car-wash rounded out a busy schedule for the year.

Mr. Peck helped Hi-Y members to formulate their plans for future projects.

 Upper Right—Santa's helpers prepared an addition to his sleigh load of gifts for needy children.
 Lower Left—Kathy Kehrli and Jim Mohnkern were the Belle Ball's King and Queen.
 Lower Right—With "dancing under the stars" the Belle Ball was a huge success.

Through the year the Y-Teens performed many worthwhile projects for their community. They began their activities by selling tags for one of the community service clubs. A needy family enjoyed Christmas more because of the food collected at the Y-Teen Christmas party. As was traditional, the girls gave an Easter party for the children of the Hoffman Home.

The social agenda of the year included new as well as annual events. The Ice Capades, presented in Buffalo, thrilled a group of Y-Teens in November. "Stardust," the theme of the Belle Ball, inspired a winter wonderland for dancing and fun. With spring came the Mother and Daughter Banquet and the announcement of new officers. Rounding out a year of many other activities, the members camped at Camp Newatah on Lake Chautauqua.

First and second year Spanish students were eligible for membership in the Spanish Club. Besides trying to progress in their study of the language, the members familiarized themselves with the customs, the literature, and the skills of the Spanish and the Spanish-American peoples.

The highlight of the year's activities was a Christmas banquet held in the dining room of the Penn Laurel Motel. The presentation of a skit and the singing of carols in Spanish provided entertainment. Special excitement centered on the breaking of the "Pinata," a paper doll filled with presents.

Der Gemutliche Verein was again one of the most popular clubs in the high school. All persons taking German were automatically members. In all their activities the members attempted to gain a better understanding of the people, customs, and history of Germany.

At the traditional Weihnachts Fest, members enjoyed a dinner and program conducted in German. A reading of "The Night Before Christmas" and a play depicting a typical German family on Christmas Day provided entertainment. The singing of carols and opening of gifts followed.

Later in the year the second-year members held a Kaffee Kuchen Stunde to welcome new members. The annual picnic concluded the year's activities.

Members of the Latin Club enjoyed a tureen dinner.

The Warren High School Latin Club held their meetings on the second Thursday of each month through the school year. The sixty-five members created many projects, which promoted a greater appreciation of ancient Roman culture and civilization. "Latin Week" emphasized to the members of the club and the Latin classes the glory that once belonged to Rome.

The club undertook the publication of a Latin newspaper. Printed in Latin, it described every day Roman events.

The greatest and most anticipated event of the club was the gala annual Latin banquet, which gave the students an opportunity to eat and clothe according to the Roman fashion of yesteryear. A great success, the banquet imparted a greater understanding of the social behavior of the ancient Romans.

Dramatic Club

In the Dramatic Club students interested in dramatics found an opportunity to develop their knowledge and appreciation of good drama. Study centered on proper acting techniques, make-up, all phases of backstage work, producing, and directing.

As a major project the club members presented and directed an enjoyable Evening of Plays. Four successful plays supplied entertainment for the public: "Sunday Costs Five Pesos," "Goodnight, Please," "Never Too Old," and "The Valiant."

The club held meetings twice a month in the auditorium. At alternate meetings various members gained acting experience by presenting one-act plays. The members also obtained footlight techniques by attending the dress rehearsals of the Warren Players' Club stage productions. Another club project, which gave enjoyment to the public as well as its members, was the presentation of three delightful radio plays over WNAE.

Lower Left—Not all plays are serious, as these members demonstrated.

Lower Right—The skills of a make-up artist were necessary for a perfect showing on the big night.

Dragonette Staff

Twenty-three junior and senior students interested in journalism comprised the newswriting class. The main purpose of this class was to publish an issue of "Dragonette," the school paper, every month. For the production of every two issues the class elected a new staff of editors. This gave all the newswriting students varied experience.

Between publications the "Dragonette" staff gained useful information from a study of news techniques, which they applied to improve the newspaper. A major improvement changed the size of the paper from a three-column publication to five columns. This larger paper more adequately supplied the student body with the latest school news, sports, activities, and stories.

The staff also found time to undertake the responsibility of supplying the "Times Mirror," "Observer," and WNAE with high school news.

The cheery voice of the early morning "Dragonette" broadcaster aroused the interest of the still sleepy students.

Dragon Business Board

All the worries of financing the Dragon faced the Dragon Business Board. In addition to collecting subscription payments for the Dragon, these hard workers solicited the various merchants and industries of Warren and the surrounding area for donations to help make this book possible. The Board also operated the concession stand at home football games, sold colorful pom-poms, and later in the year sold boxes of engraved stationery.

With the help of the Hi-Time Staff, the Business Board planned a record, "The Talking Dragon," containing highlights of the school year.

The "Dragon" Business Board schemed to find ways to finance the 1959 "Dragon."

We extend our sincere appreciation to the people of Warren and vicinity for the generosity they have shown in helping to make the yearbook possible. Without their financial assistance, the "DRAGON" could not have been published.

Acknowledgements

We wish to thank the students, the faculty, the administration, and our advisors, Miss Hurd, Mr. Danielson, and Mr. Passaro. We greatly appreciate the help of Mr. Berdine of the Keystone Printing Company, Mr. Stoke of Stoke's Studio, Mr. Ridgway of Kurtz Bros., and Mr. Zimmerman of the Zimmerman Engraving Company. We thank Mr. Kauffman for the use of his equipment, Mr. Fowler and the riser committee, the "Times-Mirror," and the "Warren Observer." You have given freely of your time to make this "Dragon" a reality, and, we hope, a successful record of the year 1958-1959 as we knew and saw it.

ALEXIS SOMMERS, Editor.

Thy bright emblem shining o'er us
Shows thy glorious might.
Through the years thou safely bore us
Spotless Blue and White.
Sons and daughters bring thee praises,
Bring thee praise and fame,
And thy standard high upraises —
Herald of thy name.

May thy honor all un-dying
Keep thee ever free,
Through the years behind us flying
Oft proclaiming thee.
Kindly mother — queen of pleasure —
High above the rest —
May thy passing years, the measure
Prove thee still the best.
— Ernest Nathan, '21.
